It is a simple train management system project created using basic python and it is a beginner level based project . I have imported one module named 'pnr' in this project. It is basically a menu driven program . It includes three choices -viewing all trains, searching all trains, booking seats We have created three different functions to perform above mentioned task .We have imported a module named 'pnr' that generates a PNR number when the user uses the seat booking choice .